

Cover letter

I, Radoje Cvijović, am writing to you with the aim of finding employment in your company, in order to ensure security for the family I founded and improve my own quality of life.

I believe that I can contribute in organizational, technical-technological and any other sense.

As an IT engineer, computers and computer software are my specialty. I can make an exceptional contribution in this field. I am very familiar with all aspects and modern trends in the use of computer technology. In addition, I am very good at purchasing, equipping and putting into operation computer systems and networks, as well as in the matter of computer equipment service.

For the past thirteen years, I have been actively engaged in the introduction, installation and service of internet connections, in the field of ADSL and wireless internet technology. Also, I am very familiar with current IPTV services in our market. I see optical Internet as a special challenge.

I have rich experience and knowledge in the creation, maintenance and updating of internet presentations, as well as in the design of advertising and other audiovisual content.

Experience in journalism provides me with a new quality that can be used in direct contact with potential and current partners, in the work of the public relations service, advertising in the media, as well as other unavoidable tasks in the field of communication with partners and the public.

Also, I am ready and open to new challenges and knowledge that new work responsibilities bring. Work on oil platforms or similar demanding and complex business tasks.

I think that in all the mentioned aspects I could contribute to the improvement of the company's operations, more rational use of human and technical resources, as well as the reduction of maintenance costs.

I am ready to work on the most demanding jobs, from those that require working with people, to field and technical tasks.
